stay friend. Tigu

So you?
the future.

Terry -
This might be a little shaky - the bus is kind of rough, writing? For being James' little "brother-god" are a pretty swell guy.

Make the most of your few years left Terry, cause they are really great!
The best of luck always -

VOLUME 30

To all things there is a time

These are the years of youth, the wonderful years when time means only the day after tomorrow. These are the years of anxious individuals with hopes and dreams; but youth is brutal as well as sweet, and youth is a reality as well as a dream.

A flower blooms and withers and dies - and blooms again, according to the season; in the same way youth is eternal, existing from season to season; for to all things there is a time.

Associating words with pictures to tell a creative story of the school year is the purpose of the yearbook. This is our story of Delton Kellogg High School during the school year 1966-1967.

Roads

There are many roads ahead which we must travel. High school prepares us to bravely face these roads. Our goals lie ahead like the silver moon hung in the late afternoon sky. Our progress markers are like the telephone poles which evenly divide the distance. Throughout our lives we'll set our goals and strive to reach them. Our success often depends on what we've learned.

Administration Forms Policy, Helps Students

Superintendent Mr. Basil Johnson gives many extra hours to the school; the light in his office shines even late at night.

Mrs. Jean Stanton, bookkeeper, and Mrs. Faith Greer, secretary to Mr. Johnson are always willing to offer assistance to students.

Delton Kellogg school board members: L. Stuck, president, L. Champion, R. Hartman, S. Scott, L. Lindsey, E. Pierson, and J. Bourdo.

Students always know they can seek advice or help from Delton's principal Mr. Willard Baker, whose door is almost always open.

Qualified guidance is offered to students by counsellor Mr. Dale Kooi, above, and assistant principal Mr. Melvin Goebel, left.

High school secretary, Mrs. Mae Fowler runs the bookstore, organizes office business, and answers questions in addition to many other duties.

Mrs. Mary Brumbaugh teaches freshmen and sophomores the intricacies of their native language. A definite background in English is important in all walks of life.

American literature gives an insight into our country's early culture. Mrs. Carol Soret teaches the class to juniors.

Essential for additional study, Delton's library offers a wide selection of materials. Mrs. Ruth Lyons serves as librarian in a house of words and languages.

Mrs. Earledine Ayres, who teaches English and Latin, invites her students to develop their own philosophies and sound off on their thoughts and ideas.

Languages Offer Common Bond or Dividing Force

Classic literature . . . Mark Twain . . . philosophies . . . read, write, reread, rewrite . . . communication . . . Patterns of English . . . ear-phones . . . "Como esta usted?" . . . gender . . . translations . . . "Britannia insula est."

Mr. David Honeywell teaches a language that lives: Spanish. He offers students the chance to learn of Latin American neighbors.

Mr. Paul Jones, who teaches U.S. history, helps his students understand the past events which have affected the present and will form the future.

In Social Studies We Face Past Problems, Personal Frustrations, Future Hopes

American Revolution . . . wars . . .
peace treaties . . . insurance . . . courts
. . . social pressures . . . mob action
. . . rationalization . . . neuroses . . .
Senate hearings . . . containment, deterrence . . . United Nations.

Early U.S. history is taught by Mrs. Barbara Baker. Students learn of our country in its founding and developing years.

Mr. Bruce Carman teaches U.S. history, world geography, and psychology. His students enjoy projects which help them experience the actions of which they study.

Personal law is taught by Mr. Donald Dorstewitz. He helps his pupils learn basic principles of business law.

A new class at Delton this year was twentieth century problems. Seniors investigated current world affairs and enjoyed election campaigns and projects dealing with legislation and world justice. The class was taught jointly by Mr. Alan Beebe (below, left) and Mr. Gordon Christensen. Mr. Christensen also teaches government and sociology.

Mr. Alan Beebe teaches journalism, speech and communications in addition to twentieth century problems. His pupils use words to express their thoughts and tell of events.

Words, Pictures,

Editorials, feature stories . . . leads, headlines . . . nervous speakers . . . understatement . . . foreshortening . . . still life . . . easels, paint . . . sopranos . . . sharps, flats . . . quarter rests . . . woodwinds, brass.

Delton's art teacher is Mr. Frederick Petroskey. His classes are popular and feature drawing, painting, clay work and commercial design.

Chorus class is taught and directed by Miss Connie Baxter. Her students' form of expression is vocal and melodic.

Tones Tell of Our Thoughts and Lives

Mr. Dale Kooi directs Delton's award winning band. A wide array of music is performed and the corridors are filled with the sounds during second hour.

Real numbers . . . planes . . . logarithms . . . angles . . . unknown factors . . . elements . . . B.T.U. . . . planaria . . . holozoic nutrition.

In today's fast-paced world basic knowledge of various science fields is important. Mr. Stanley Busch teaches physical science, chemistry, and physics.

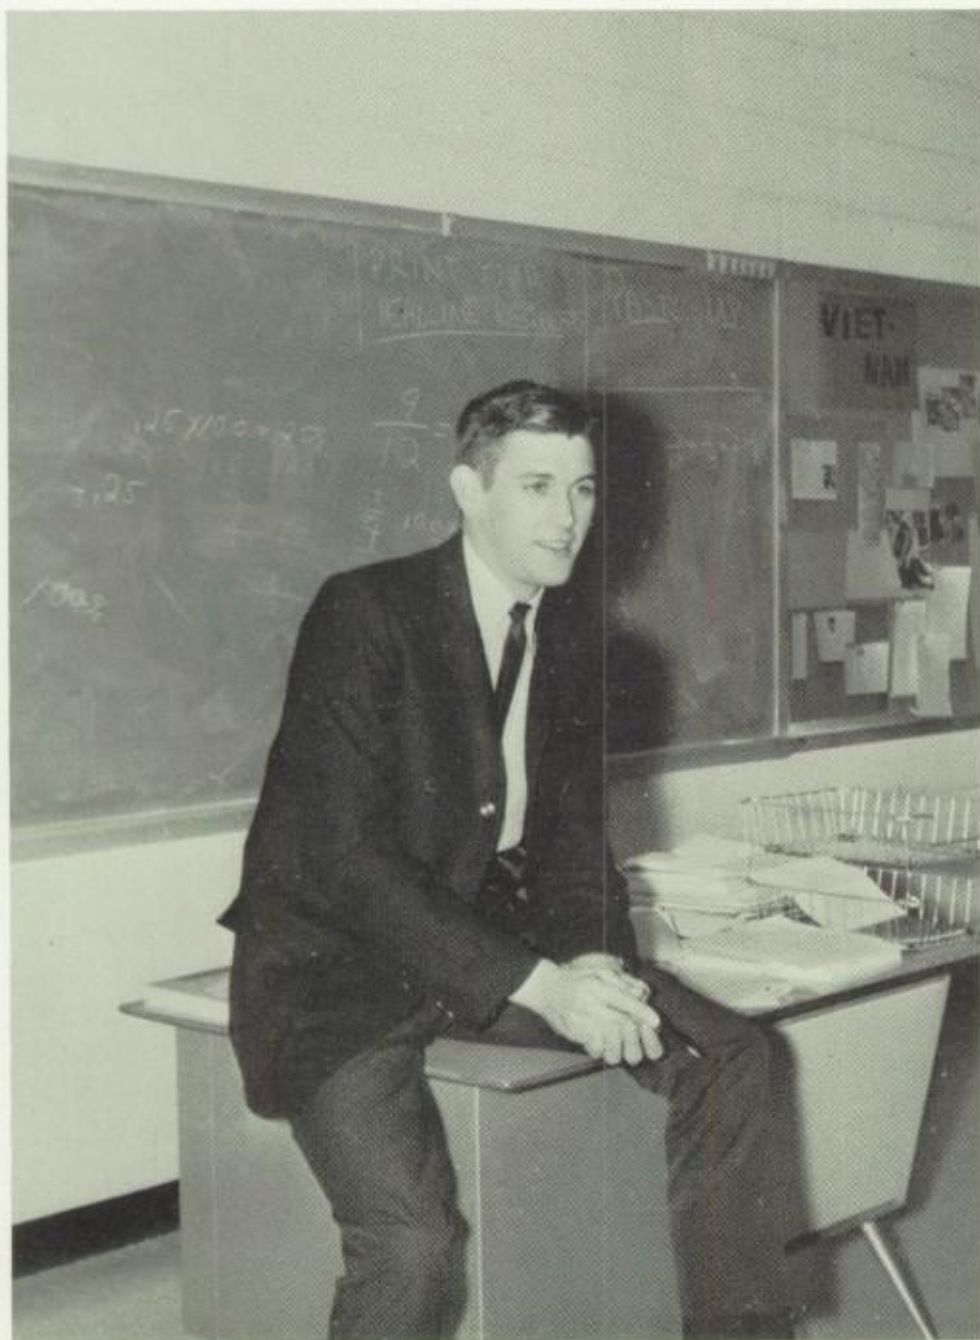

Mr. Harry Stolt offers students an important knowledge of the biological sciences, at general and advanced levels, for a better understanding of their own bodies.

In our rural area agriculture is still an important way of life. Mr. John Mullenix teaches the plant and animal phases of the field.

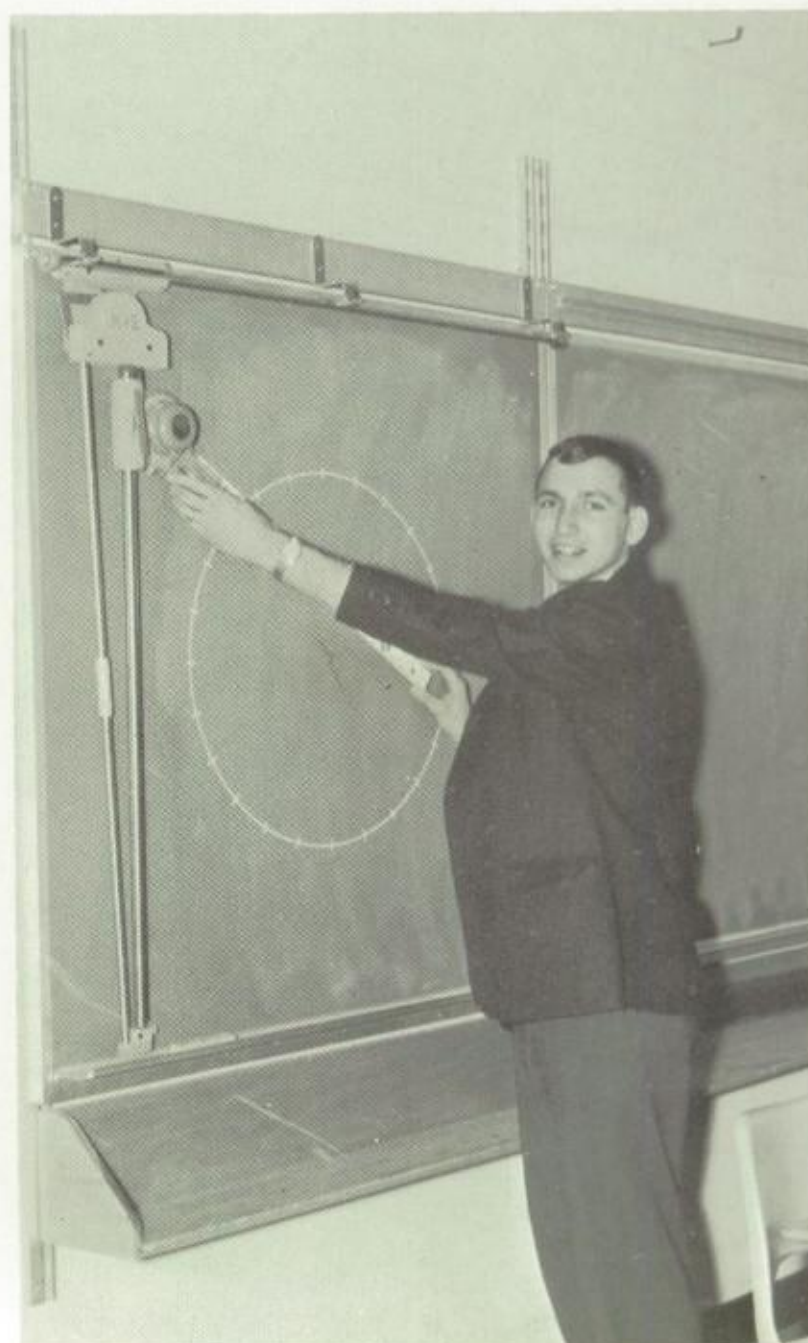

Math Major Factors in Modern World

Mrs. Frances Busch, who teaches algebra, at basic and advanced levels, and senior math, heads the math department at Delton.

Many students who desire only a limited amount of math education are usually found in Mr. Richard Pilukas's general math classes.

Mr. Michael Lamphier teaches his students the equations and functions of basic algebra.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hyde teaches her students business practices ranging from basic typing to shorthand and the operation of various office machines.

Students

Typing and bookkeeping are taught by Miss Connie Baxter to interested students. Many students, especially girls, hope for a future in the business world.

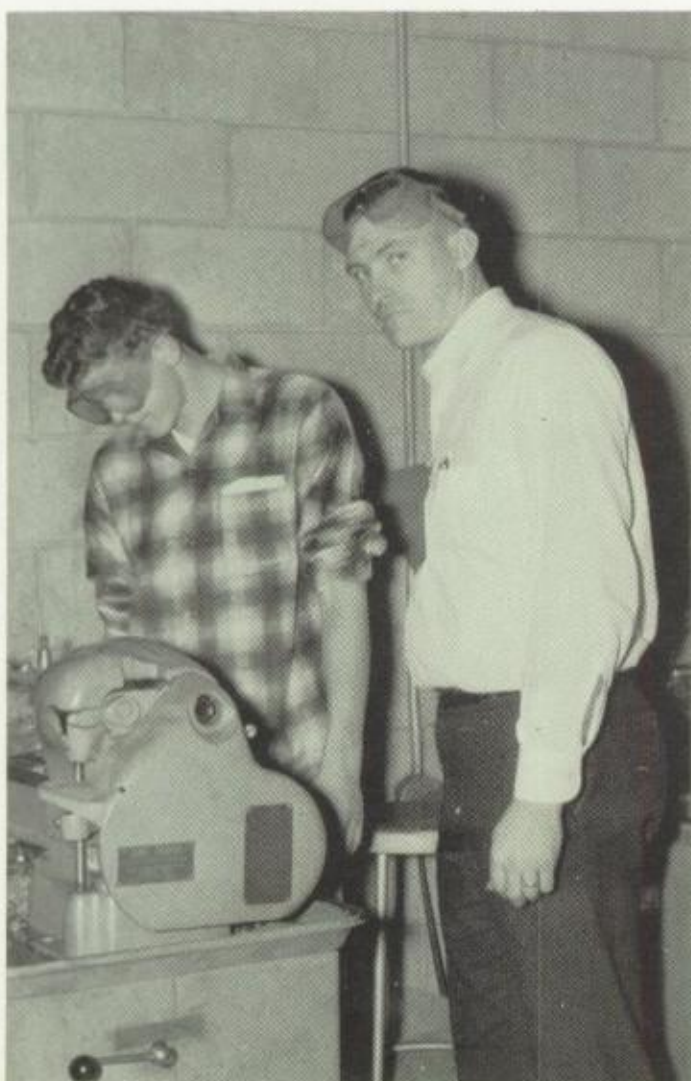

Most girls want to learn the basic skills of cooking and sewing. Mrs. Jean Johnson's home economics classes are meant for them. She offers them skills they will need in future years.

Practice to Become Adept at Various Skills

Metal shop skills and mechanical drawing are taught by Mr. Gary Cole. Students learn the basic and advanced principles of metal work and the tools that produce it.

Mr. Richard Brandli, right, teaches woodshop at basic and advanced levels. The quality of work produced in the classes is evidence of the skills acquired.

Our Bodies Fit, We Better Face Mental Tasks

Vigorous physical activity is an important part of any curriculum. Mr. Jack McWilliams teaches boys physical education.

Tennis shoes . . . push-ups . . .
sweaty towels . . . smelly lockers
. . . parallel bars . . . mats . . .
basketballs . . . wrinkled uniforms.

Miss Marie Knapp teaches girls physical education. The girls receive training in gymnastics, volleyball, basketball and various other physical activities.

Lunchtime World Active

The lunch period at Delton offers students a break in their day of study and a chance to converse at the table or senior hall. The time passes too rapidly for people who would like to exchange gossip and news or just relax for several more minutes.

Delton's capable cooks who present to their customers a wide variety of attractive lunches are: K. Mott, M. Phillips, J. Harrington, manager, M. Lammers, A. Rockwell, and F. Pike.

Stacks of books . . . carved desks
 . . . "Chemistry test tomorrow" . . .
 lectures, notes . . . dog-eared pages
 . . . dull pencils . . . writers' cramp
 . . . "What did you get for number three?" . . . eyestrain . . . "The bell's gonna ring."

Within the classroom,
 during the 70 minutes of contact with the teacher is basically where and when the school functions. This is its purpose.

The essence of school is study.
 How accustomed we grow to the tables,
 chairs and desks associated with Delton classrooms! How familiar are the sights of dirty blackboards, yellowed pages and finely printed letters!

Minds are Shaped for the Future

With our heads bent intently over myriad pages of the printed word, we filter the facts and concepts which will mold our minds for the future.

When a pause comes in the day's learning procedure, students turn to lighter thoughts; we joke, discuss happy moments, think about the test next hour, laugh and wait for the bell to ring. Relaxation is important to us; it's our break in the dull routine of books, lectures and essays.

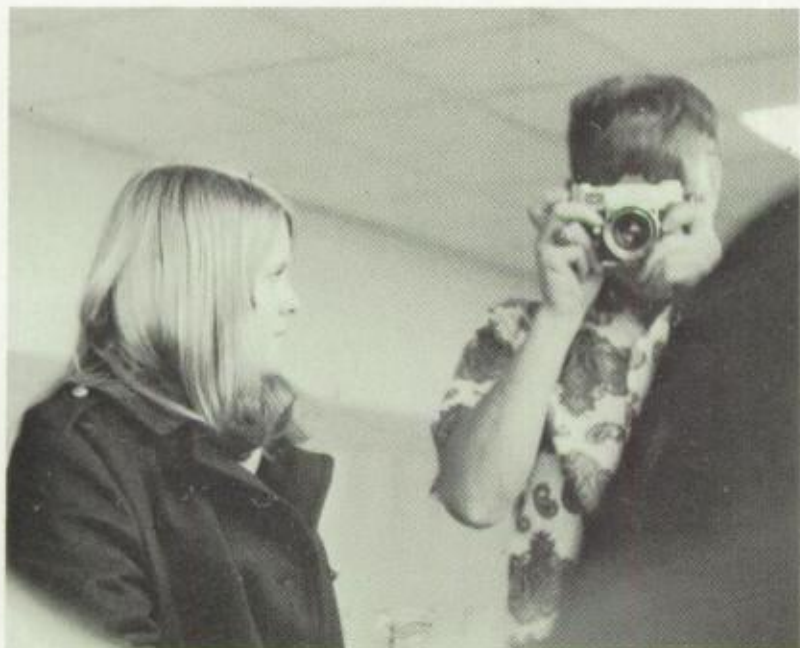

Time Found for Relaxation

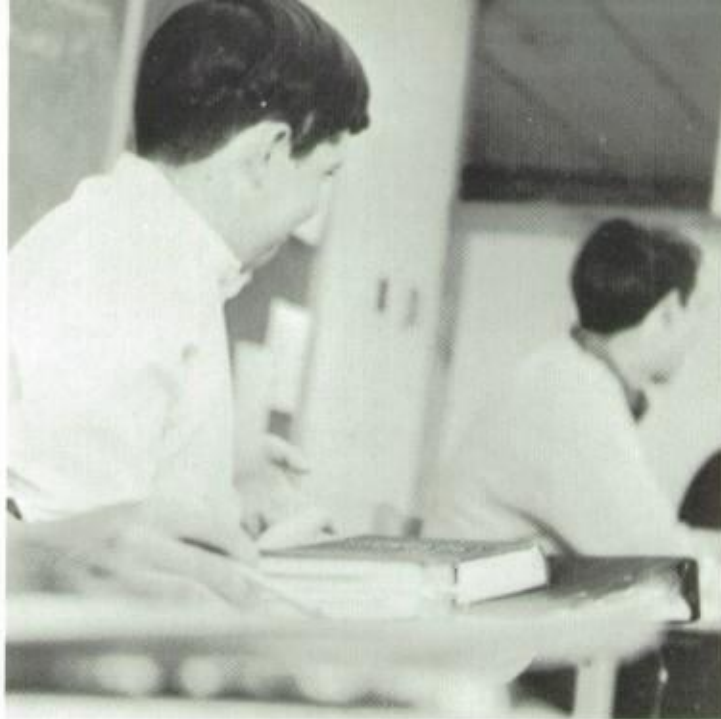

Fleeting moments of laughter or quiet conversation are parts of school which help the day move along. Here we lose our label "students" and become people.

Laughter . . . private jokes . . .
 "Gordy, don't you dare!" . . . ice cream in the halls . . . "Is Mr. Baker around?"
 . . . locker doors slam . . . "Did you hear about . . .?" . . . someone whistling
 "Winchester Cathedral" . . . "I smell onions."

Back in School

The character of a back is something seldom studied, not often contemplated. It's what isn't shown in most pictures. But a great deal can be told by a person's posterior side, by his posture, gestures and stance.

ACTIVITIES

The sophomore class won the float prize this year with their scene from "Jellystone Park."

Connie, Over '66

Delton Panther Jamie Poyer lunges at Parchment player to stop the opposition's advance. Mike Payne and Ken Bush bring up the rear.

Cold barns, wagons . . . "Cartoon Characters" . . . floats . . . marching music . . . barbequed chicken . . . convertibles . . . formals . . . boutonnieres . . . "Our geyser gonna win" . . . a Delton victory, a winner's trophy . . . smiles . . . tears . . . a kiss

The homecoming dance following the game featured a four-piece combo from Hastings, The Bad Mons, who played to a near-capacity crowd.

ke Reign Homecoming

As the crowd cheered and other Panthers smiled their approval, co-captain Jamie Poyer raised a trophy which represented a 12-7 victory.

Gasps, smiles and an excited kiss followed the half-time announcement that Connie Bridenstine and Ike Mercer had been elected the '66 homecoming queen and king.

Representing the senior class were Butch Thorn, Sharon Jacobs, Linda Dewey and Jamie Poyer.

Band Has Spirited Year

Majorettes were Paula Nichols, Nancy Mott and Peggy Handy. They led the marching band through its moves and routines.

Band members are among the highest spirited students at Delton. They are a great help to the cheerleaders. The sight of the marching band headed for the football field second hour or after school are familiar. The signals are well known.

Mr. Dale Kooi, left, in a lighter moment, directed the band this year. His humor and spirit were common at almost any time; but he gave his band vigorous workouts.

Band council members, SEATED, Mary Little, Trudy Phillips and Cal Morrow, STANDING, Doug Stedge, Mr. Kooi, and Jim Handy admire one of the many numerous award trophies and plaques the band won.

Use of the Foucault pendulum helped Mark Alman attempt to prove that the earth rotates on its axis and won him first place in the ninth and tenth grade category.

Experiments with emphysema won Pam Hayward a second prize in the senior division.

Colleen Taylor did experiments growing plants with music and won a second place.

Merchants and organizations within the school district hosted honored students and their parents and teachers May 9 at the fourth annual Honors Banquet. A meal of baked ham was followed by an awards presentation program featuring guest speaker Terrence Carey, director of admissions and scholarships at Michigan State University.

Award certificates were presented by Mr. Goebel and Mr. Baker to students chosen by the faculty for excellence in various phases of academics.

Examples of students' work were exhibited in the gym.

Delton's student governing body, the Student Council, is an organization made up of representatives from all clubs and grades 7 through 12. Among the Council's many duties are finding solutions to the students' many problems, approving club activities, and making arrangements for the Homecoming Festivities.

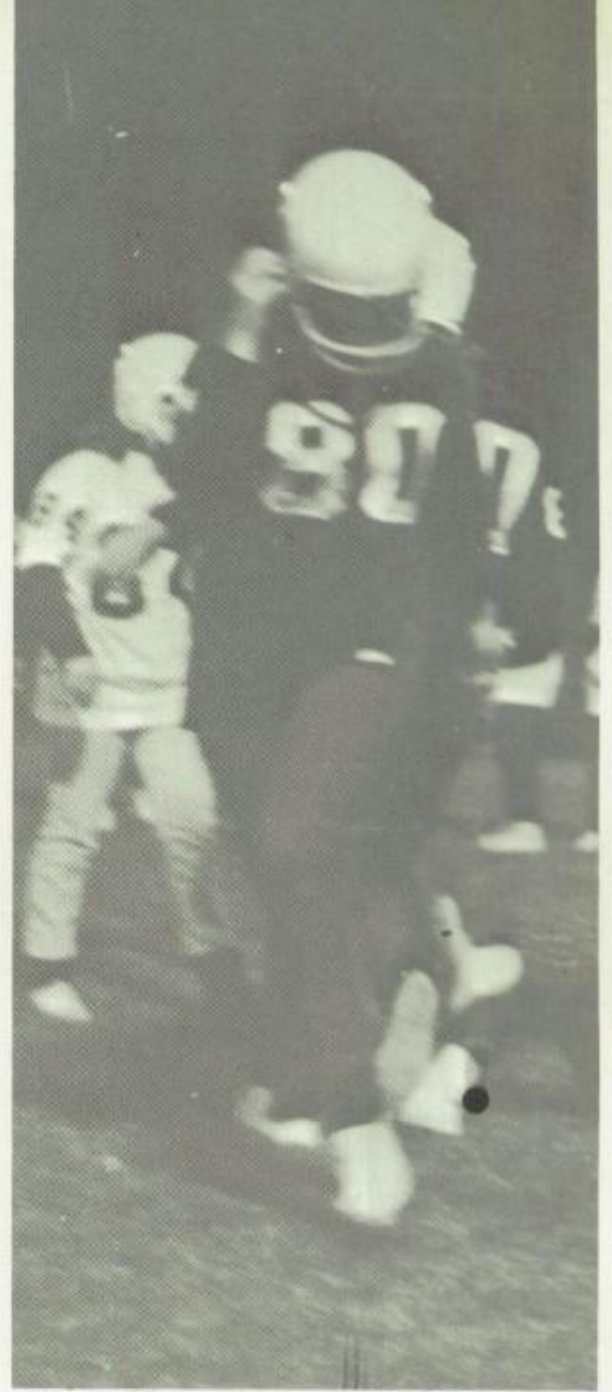

Organizations Offer Student Leadership

Leading this Year's Student Council through the many activities are Sergeant at Arms, Ike Mercer; President, Tim Knowlton; Vice president, Rick Scatterday; Secretary, Linda Dewey; and Treasurer, Connie Bridenstine.

In this year's annual Powder-puff Football Game, the senior-sophomore team, (Chargers) defeated the junior-sophomore team, (Guthrie's Go-Getters) by a score of 19-0.

Each year, new members are required to pass a unique initiation before being accepted into the club.

Sophomore, junior, and senior girls have a chance to participate in athletic events and other activities in Delton's largest club, The Girls Athletic Association. Miss Marie Knapp is its advisor.

The Latin club scheduled its annual summer trip to the Stratford Shakespearean Festival in Canada. Mrs. Ayres advised the club. Homecoming

The first big event for freshmen is homecoming. Their king and queen were Bob Tack and Peggy Handy. The freshman float featured "Top Cat" (Delton) in his natural habitat.

Boat Competition

The Sophomore's entry in the float contest featured Yogi Bear and a Panther Player seated in Jelly Stone Park. A working geyser and the catchy slogan "Our Gey-Ser Gonna Win", delighted the spectators as well as the judges and the sophomores won first prize in the competition.

Homecoming marked the beginning of the 1966-67 school year. Representing the juniors were queen Sue Hiles and king Rick Scatterday. Sue wore a soft yellow floor length gown. The bodice and train were brocade with the rest being crepe.

Homecoming Were Enjoyed

The junior class worked hard this year to build a miniature football field with a Parchment player waving a white flag. The ghost says "Parchment hasn't a ghost of a chance."

Some parts of Delton we'll always recall: our class plays
. . . the cooks . . . the teachers . . . the KVA . . .
the court . . . busy halls.

ause to Reflect

As our high school life fades we snatch moments to think back, to reflect. What will we remember? Parts that weren't even school: the death of a president . . . the Beatles . . . Vietnam . . . space walks.

We discuss the future. What lies ahead? Marriage, more school, a job or the service? Will we ever see each other again? Questions. But what are the answers?

Lake Michigan Invaded by Delton

The G. A. A., varsity club, student council and band scheduled picnics at Lake Michigan.

Boys played football, girls tried to darken their early season tans, everyone ate, few swam, and the day was highlighted when the faculty members were thrown into the icy water.

Blankets...sand...baby oil...Mr. McWilliams' rare hamburgs...sand...cold water...football...sand...dunes...transistor radios...sand..."Heard any good jokes lately, Mr. Anderson?"...dead fish...sand.

On board the S. S. South American; TOP: Teresa Dahn, Joann Bronk, Elizabeth Smitherman, Jim Walker, Claude Hall, Roger Hussong. BOTTOM: Pete McCarty, Jerry Ball, Bill Roberts, Karen Huisman, Vivian Cimala, Jim Handy, Bob Cheyne.

Seniors Cruise Lake Huron

On Friday, May 26, a small number of Delton seniors boarded the S. S. South American in Detroit and sailed to Mackinac Island. After a few hours on the island they sailed back, returning on Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Goebel chaperoned.

The ship cruise provided a few hours in the sun and lots of entertainment and fun.

Maroon and white gowns...crowded gym...
 "Pomp and Circumstance"... "You're out of step. "
 ... "Boy, it's hot. "...diplomas... "Look, Sharon's crying. "...the end of a beginning... "Good-by. "

What Today is a Reality,
 Tomorrow Will be

Speeches on responsibility, maturity, and individualism were given by class president Mike O'Meara, salutatorian Pam Hayward, and valedictorian Nancy Wertman.

Rated as the top ten academically of the class were Mary Little, Pam Hayward, Kara Thompson, Margaret Trantham, Gail Herbert, Sandee Herbert, Nancy Wertman, Mary Smith, Bob Nusbaum and Nancy Mott.

One hundred seniors faced their final walk as high school students on June 8, 1967. No one knows how he'll feel 'till the time comes. We thank our parents and teachers for the last thirteen years.

Memory

Delton Wins Place in Our Memories

No matter how long or short a student's stay at Delton Kellogg is, he or she will always remember the sights and sounds, the atmosphere of Delton.
